Descripción de la propiedad

Panama highland agricultural land in Potrerillos Arriba, Chiriquí, offering a combination of productive pasture and mountain scenery. Located in the Mameyes 2 area, this property is currently configured as a cattle ranch with abundant grazing land and practical internal access throughout the property. The land features a fully fenced perimeter with dual gated entry points, supporting both security and operational flexibility. An internal road connects different areas of the property, making movement across pasture sections efficient for livestock management or agricultural use. Roadside positioning provides convenient access while maintaining the quiet rural character typical of the Chiriquí highlands. Natural features enhance the landscape, including a stream bordering the property and a cliff formation defining part of the terrain. On clear days, the surrounding mountain views extend toward Boquete, adding visual appeal to the highland setting. The climate in Potrerillos Arriba is known for its cool temperatures and refreshing afternoon mists, creating comfortable conditions for both agricultural activities and countryside living. Electricity and water connections are available nearby, providing practical infrastructure for continued ranch operations or potential future development. The combination of existing fencing, natural water source, internal road access, and open pasture reduces initial development requirements for buyers seeking functional agricultural land. Potrerillos Arriba is part of the Chiriquí highlands, a region recognized for cattle ranching, farming, and cooler mountain climates. This property presents an opportunity
